Professional History

Nitsan joined Holmes Dyer in May 2021 and brings extensive experience working in various levels of State Government.

Throughout her 18 years in the public sector, Nitsan has worked in the areas of development assessment, planning policy, and more recently planning reform.

Prior to becoming a Urban and Regional Planner, Nitsan was a Social Worker, working with children living outside the family home.

Experience

As an experienced statutory planner, Nitsan has assessed myriad development applications across metropolitan Adelaide, greater Adelaide, regional and outback South Australia; and provided expert planning advice to the State Commission Assessment Panel and the Minister for Planning.

Nitsan has considerable experience working with the development industry, councils and other relevant stakeholders on large residential subdivision projects, including Lightsvue, Hamilton Hill, Bowden Urban Village and Tonsley Residential Precinct. Other notable projects that Nitsan has been involved in include the redevelopment of Plant 4 at Bowden, various townhouse and apartment building developments at Bowden, the Brickworks redevelopment, the Barossa Co-Op redevelopment at Nuriootpa, and many tourism development projects on Kangaroo Island.

As a policy planner, Nitsan has been involved in Development Plan amendments (now known as Code amendments) and the drafting and review of the Planning and Design Code.

Her most recent role as a Council Liaison Officer afforded Nitsan the opportunity to work collaboratively with a number of local councils in the transition of their Development Plan into the Planning and Design Code.

While working on the State Government's planning reform project, Nitsan assisted with the running of community information sessions and forums and enjoyed helping members of the community navigate the planning system.

Nitsan has excellent interpersonal skills and prides herself on her ability to work collaboratively with councils, government departments, the community and other stakeholders to achieve the best possible planning outcomes.
